2           other agreements with CBPP relating to its hydro generation are consistent with 3           documentation governing CBPP access to Provincial water rights.

6    A.    Hydro has not researched this matter recently but can confirm that, to its 7           knowledge, the water rights held by CBPP are the same as have existed since the 8           time when its Deer Lake power plant was used both to provide power to its pulp 9           and paper operations and as a power source to provide electricity to the residents
10          and businesses in Corner Brook and the surrounding communities. In this sense, 11          there appears to be no restrictions in CBPP's water rights as to selling power to 12          third parties, including Hydro.
