Ms. Blundon,

We have been instructed by our clients the Industrial Customers to request a further extension for their submissions until Monday, February 23, 2015.

We can advise that the complexity of the issues (as is already evident from the sharply divergent submissions filed today), and the need to have fully-informed instructions from multiple clients, and the fact that our clients are those most impacted by the current process, have necessitated this request.

Regards,

Paul Coxworthy
