I am shocked, surprised and disgusted to see that NLP is looking for a third rise in one year. Reason given: 'to satisfy our shareholdres'. I would have taken the excuse: 'to upgrade our shoddy services' with a pinch of salt; but, this excuse, I have to swallow like a bitter pill!

No offense to the poor linesmen who worked very hard during the recent storms. My hats off to them, as I know they will not be getting a raise or a bonus.

SHAME!
