2     Q.     How often are the bushings held in storage inspected and evaluated with 3            regard to condition?

6     A.     The bushings which are held in storage are routinely inspected by the 7            warehouse staff for oil leaks once per month. Electrical Inspections on 8            bushings are only conducted immediately prior to a bushing being placed in 9            service.
