2 While generally modern vessels do not match the design criteria of the Marine
3 Terminal is it possible to contract deliveries by tankers which more closely match
4 the design criteria of the Marine Terminal?

7 A. The availability of non-modern vessels that would match the design criteria for the 8 Holyrood Marine Terminal in a modern era is limited. Many of the vessels that 9 would be suitable for delivery at the Holyrood Marine Terminal have been retired 10 and replaced with more modern vessels. Finding suitable vessels and ensuring they 11 are available at the time required for a delivery to Holyrood Marine Terminal places 12 time constraints on the deliveries and risks the possibility of a vessel not being 13 available to deliver to Holyrood.
